4.0. CULTURAL RESOURCES

The Ruby Pipeline Project (Project), proposed by Ruby Pipeline, LLC (Ruby), is comprised of approximately 674.4 miles of 42-inch diameter natural gas pipeline, along with associated compression and measurement facilities, located between Opal, Wyoming and Malin, Oregon. An approximate 2.7-mile lateral would also be constructed south from the Malin Hub. The pipeline rights-of-way (ROW) would cross four states: Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, and Oregon. Four new natural gas compressor stations would also be installed as part of the Project.

Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, as amended (16 U.S.C. § 470f) (NHPA), and its implementing regulations (36 CFR Part 800) promulgated by the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation (ACHP), require federal agencies to take into account the effects of their undertakings on historic properties, and to afford the ACHP an opportunity to comment on such undertakings. The Section 106 regulations also require federal agencies with responsibility for an undertaking to consult with the relevant State Historic Preservation Officer(s) (SHPO(s)), federal land managing agencies, federally recognized Indian tribes, representatives of local government, and other potentially interested parties (as defined by 36 CFR § 800.2(c)(5)), and to provide appropriate mechanisms for public participation, in the review of that undertaking.

The purpose of Section 106 is to seek to accommodate historic preservation concerns with the needs of federal undertakings through this consultation process (36 C.F.R. § 800.1(a)). The goal of the consultation process is to identify and evaluate potentially affected historic properties, assess effects thereto, and seek ways to avoid, minimize or mitigate any adverse effects to historic properties. (Id.)

The Project is a federal undertaking subject to required review under Section 106 and will require a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity from the lead federal agency in this review, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC). This resource report summarizes Ruby's efforts to assist FERC, as well as other agencies with jurisdiction over the Project, such as the Bureau of Land Management (BLM), and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and others, in meeting their obligations under the NHPA.

4.1 Overview

Ruby will provide FERC with the cultural resources reports, and documentation of initial Section 106 consultation with the SHPOs of the states of Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, and Oregon and with identified federally recognized Indian tribes. Resource Report No. 4 classifies cultural resources affected by the Project; identifies and assesses impacts to historic properties due to construction and operation of the Project; and discusses measures to avoid, minimize, or mitigate adverse impacts to such properties. This resource report documents the results of the pedestrian and subsurface surveys for pre-historic or historic resources and includes a plan for unanticipated discoveries. Surveys of any newly added facilities outside of areas previously surveyed, and areas not yet surveyed due to lack of timely access, will be submitted at a later date as addenda to Ruby's cultural resources reports. Historic Properties Treatment Plans (HPTPs) will be submitted at a later date as addenda to the cultural resources reports.

4.2 Construction and Operational Impacts (Results of Surveys)

Historic properties listed or eligible for listing on the National Register of Historic Places (NRHP) could be affected by construction and operation of the pipeline, compression, and associated facilities. A historic property is a prehistoric or historic site; district, building, structure, or object that is listed in the NRHP or that meets the NRHP criteria, and can include a property to which an Indian tribe attaches religious and cultural significance. (36 CFR § 800.16(l)(1).) To be eligible for the NRHP, a property must meet one or more of the significance criteria outlined in 36 CFR § 60.4, and must possess historic integrity, which can include integrity of location, design, setting, materials, workmanship, feeling, and/or association, as defined in National Register Bulletin 15, "How to Apply the National Register Criteria for Evaluation."

While Ruby will endeavor to minimize such occurrences, adverse effects from the Project could include the demolition, removal, or alteration of a historic property or the introduction of visual, atmospheric, or audible elements that diminish the integrity of the property's significant historic features. Adverse effects to historic properties can be mitigated through agency-agreed measures. Appropriate measures to avoid, minimize, or mitigate unavoidable adverse effects can include one or more of the following measures: (1) avoidance of the effect through realignment, relocation or redesign of the pipeline, ancillary facilities, access roads or staging areas; (2) data recovery, which may include the systematic professional excavation of a site or the preparation of photographic records, measured drawings or other measures for documenting standing structures; or (3) landscaping or other techniques that would minimize or eliminate visual adverse effects to the significant historic setting or other defining visual elements of an aboveground historic property.

Whenever feasible, Ruby intends to avoid adverse effects to historic properties identified during the cultural resources surveys. If adverse effects to a historic property cannot be avoided, FERC would consult with the relevant SHPOs and federal land-management agencies, such as the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) and U.S. Forest Service (FS), to identify measures to avoid, minimize or mitigate such adverse affects, and the development of treatment plans by Ruby to implement mitigation efforts. Ruby would file the appropriate avoidance or treatment plans with FERC, the relevant SHPO(s), and federal land-management agencies, and would implement such plans only after receiving authorization from FERC and, where appropriate, the BLM and/or other agencies.

In the spring and summer of 2008, Ruby conducted cultural resources surveys of the Project corridor. Cultural resources surveys for compressor stations, access roads, and other facilities and designated areas not within that corridor are ongoing. All work associated with the cultural resources investigations has been conducted in accordance with the procedures outlined in the ACHP's Section 106 regulations.

In accordance with identification procedures developed in consultation with federal agencies, such as the BLM and the FS, and with the Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, and Oregon SHPOs, Ruby and its qualified consultants have initiated intensive pedestrian surveys of the ROW and other areas as designated in connection with the Section 106 review of the Project. This has included: (1) a 300-foot-wide corridor centered on the centerline of the pipeline; (2) a 100-foot-wide corridor centered on each segment of access road to be constructed or improved; (3) the area of potential ground-disturbance from construction of ancillary above-ground facilities; and (4) designated areas for the staging of heavy equipment for the Project. Most of the survey work for the 300-foot corridor has been completed, as described below.

Cultural resources inventory reports would be prepared for each state, the preliminary results of which are presented below.

4.2.1 Cultural Resource Survey for Wyoming

During the summer of 2008, Ruby completed a literature search and records review for a two-mile-wide corridor in Wyoming centered on the pipeline centerline. Records were reviewed at the BLM's Kemmerer Field Office and the offices of the Wyoming SHPO. The file search identified previously recorded archaeological sites and historic properties listed on the NRHP within that corridor.

During that same period, Ruby conducted a cultural resources field survey in Wyoming covering a 300-foot-wide corridor centered on the pipeline centerline for approximately 48 miles of the Project from the Opal Hub west to the Wyoming/Utah border (see Table 4A-1). Surveys are pending for the access roads, compressor stations, and other facilities and designated Project areas to be located outside of the Wyoming survey corridor. Access roads and other facilities or designated areas not previously surveyed will be surveyed beginning September 2008.

The Wyoming field survey identified a total of 31 archeological sites, as well as historic and other cultural properties (see Table 4A-2.) These included lithic scatters, artifact scatters, mines, ditches, trails, ranches, and settlements. Of the 31 sites, two are listed or nominated for listing on the NRHP, 12 are recommended eligible for listing, two have not been evaluated because additional information is needed before an evaluation can be completed, and 15 are recommended not eligible for the NHRP. Ruby would report on the historic properties that would be affected by the Project in Wyoming, and recommend approaches, mitigation or treatment for any historic property that would be unavoidably adversely affected.

4.2.2 Cultural Resource Survey for Utah

During the spring and summer of 2008, Ruby completed a literature search and records review for a two-mile-wide corridor in Utah centered on the pipeline centerline. Records were reviewed at the BLM's Salt Lake Field Office, the Forest Service office for the Uinta-Wasatch-Cache National Forest, and the offices of the Utah SHPO. The file search identified previously recorded archaeological sites as well as historic properties listed on the NRHP in that corridor.

Ruby conducted a cultural resources field survey in Utah covering a 300-foot-wide corridor centered on the pipeline centerline for approximately 178 of the 182.8 miles from the Utah/Wyoming border west to the Utah/Nevada border (see Table 4A-1). A total of 4.8 miles of the corridor could not be surveyed because landowner permission could not be obtained in time. Surveys are pending for the access roads, compressor stations, and other facilities and designated Project areas located outside of the Utah survey corridor. Access roads and other facilities or designated areas not previously surveyed will be surveyed beginning September 2008.

The Utah field survey identified a total of 75 archeological sites, as well as historic and other cultural properties (see Table 4A-2). These included historic lithic scatters, quarries, arboglyphs, artifact scatters, roads, canals, rock shelters, and railroads, as well as a homestead, a barn, a pipeline, and a telegraph line. Of the 75 cultural properties, 32 are recommended eligible for listing on the NRHP, one needs further evaluation, and 42 are recommended not eligible for listing on the NRHP. After the surveys are completed, Ruby would report on the historic properties in Utah that would be affected by the Project, and recommend approaches, mitigation, or treatment for any historic property that would be unavoidably adversely affected.

4.2.3 Cultural Resource Survey for Nevada

During the summer of 2008, Ruby completed a literature search and records review of a two-mile-wide corridor centered on the pipeline centerline in Nevada. Records were reviewed at the Nevada SHPO, the Nevada State Museum, and the BLM's Elko, Winnemucca, and Surprise Field Offices. The file search identified previously recorded archaeological sites as well as historic properties listed on the NRHP.

The cultural resource field survey was completed on approximately 348.5 of the 357.4 miles from the Nevada/Utah border west to the Nevada/Oregon border. A total of 8.9 miles of the corridor could not be surveyed due to the inability to obtain landowner permission in time for the survey (see Table 4A-1). Access roads, compressor stations, and other facilities or designated areas not previously surveyed will be surveyed beginning September 2008.

The Nevada field survey identified a total of 674 archeological sites, as well as historic and other cultural properties (see Table 4A-2.) These included historic lithic scatters, artifact scatters, rock shelters, roads, fence lines, cairns, prospecting pits, stock ponds, ditches, corrals, a borrow pit, and an air strip. Most of these sites have not been fully recorded, and the work necessary to make a recommendation as to NRHP eligibility would be completed and reported at a later date. After the surveys are completed, Ruby will report on the historic properties in Nevada that would be affected by the Project and recommend approaches, mitigation, or treatment for any historic property that would be unavoidably adversely affected.

4.2.4 Cultural Resource Survey for Oregon

During the summer of 2008, Ruby completed a literature search and records review of a two-mile-wide corridor in Oregon centered on the pipeline centerline. Records were reviewed at the offices of the Oregon SHPO; the BLM's field offices in Klamath Falls and Lakeview; and the Forest Service office in Lakeview, Oregon. The file search identified previously recorded archaeological sites, previously completed surveys, and historic properties listed on the NRHP in that corridor.

Ruby conducted a cultural resource field survey in Oregon covering a 300-foot-wide corridor centered on the pipeline centerline for approximately 65.2 of the 86.2 miles from the Oregon/Nevada border to Malin, Oregon. A total of 21 miles of the centerline could not be surveyed (see Table 4A-1), including 4.3 miles as a result of a reroute, 14.7 miles of the corridor that could not be surveyed due to the inability to obtain landowner permission in time for the survey, and approximately two miles that could not be surveyed because of wet conditions at the time of survey. Access roads and other facilities or designated areas not previously surveyed will be surveyed beginning September 2008.

The Oregon field survey identified a total of 57 archeological sites, as well as historic and other cultural properties (see Table 4A-2). These included historic lithic scatters, artifact scatters, quarries, and rock stacks. Of these 57 properties, seven are recommended eligible for listing on the NRHP, 14 need further evaluation to determine their eligibility, and 36 are recommended not eligible for listing on the NRHP. After all Project routes are finalized and the surveys are completed, Ruby would report on the historic properties in Oregon that would be affected by the Project and recommend approaches, mitigation, or treatment for any historic property that would be unavoidably adversely affected.

4.2.5 Visual Impacts to Historic Properties

Visual impacts to a historic property may occur when the Project would change the character of physical features within the property's setting that contribute to its historic significance, or when the Project would introduce visual elements that diminish the integrity of the historic property's significant historic features. The potential for visual impacts to cultural resources was addressed at Section 106 agency meetings (see Section 4.3 below). In response to concerns expressed by the BLM's Salt Lake Office, Kemmerer Field Office, Elko Field Office, Winnemucca Field Office, and Surprise Field Office, as well as the Utah SHPO, the Utah

School and Institutional Trust Lands Administration, the Utah Governor's Office, and the Nevada SHPO regarding the potential for the Project to visually impact historic properties, a visual impact assessment for cultural resources is ongoing.

4.3 Federal and State Agency Consultation

Ruby held a Project kick-off meeting with all applicable federal and state agencies (see listing below) on February 21, 2008 at the BLM Salt Lake Field Office. Additionally, a telephone conference call was held on April 18, 2008 with all of the participating BLM field offices to discuss Section 106 procedures for the Project.

Prior to the start of the cultural resources field studies, Section 106 meetings were set up with each of the states to discuss the Project Areas of Potential Effect (APE), survey protocols, and site recordation procedures. The schedule of meetings is listed below:

- Utah Section 106 meeting, Salt Lake City, Utah on March 31, 2008;
- Oregon Section 106 meeting, Klamath Falls, Oregon on April 8, 2008;
- Nevada Section 106 meeting, Reno, Nevada on April 14, 2008; and
- Wyoming Section 106 meeting at Kemmerer, Wyoming on June 3, 2008.

Ruby anticipates that the cultural resource reports for each state will be completed in the fall or winter of 2008. The reports would be submitted for review and comment to the following federal and state agencies:

- FERC
- Wyoming BLM, Kemmerer Field Office
- Utah BLM, Salt Lake Field Office
- Nevada BLM, Elko Field Office
- Nevada BLM, Winnemucca Field Office
- Nevada BLM, Surprise Field Office
- Oregon BLM, Klamath Falls Field Office
- Oregon BLM, Lakeview Office
- Forest Service Office for the Uinta-Wasatch-Cache National Forest
- Forest Service Office for the Fremont-Winema National Forest
- Wyoming SHPO
- Utah SHPO
- Oregon SHPO
- Nevada SHPO

Section 106 consultation with federal and state agencies will be documented in Appendix 4D.

4.4 Indian Tribal Consultation

No part of the Ruby Project would be located on any Indian tribal lands. Therefore, no consultation is required, and none has been attempted, with any Tribal Historic Preservation Officer (THPO), in their official THPO capacity.

As required by FERC, Ruby sent initial contact letters to 31 federally recognized Indian tribes on May 15, 2008 (Appendix 4E) and made follow-up contacts and responses to written communications during May through August 2008 (see Indian Tribal Contacts Matrix in Appendix 4E). The initial contact letter described the Project and solicited input from the identified Indian tribes regarding the Project. The letter asked each tribe to provide any information or concerns that the tribe might have about potential impacts from the Project to historic properties of religious and cultural significance to that tribe.

To date, 21 tribes have responded either to the initial letter or to follow-up telephone conversations or other contacts. Table 4.4-1 lists the Indian tribes that Ruby contacted, and summarizes the comments made and concerns raised. Ten tribes did not respond within 30-days of the initial letter, and follow up contacts have generated no response. Five tribes have disclaimed interest in further participation in consultation for this project and will not be contacted further unless they ask to rejoin the consultation. Therefore, as of the date of this report, 16 Indian tribes remain on the list of participating tribes.

29. Washakie	Consultation Letter 5-15-08	Discussion with Patty Timbimbo-Madsen	Tribe referred to Ruby website for additional information to review Project in order to determine whether they want to participate as a consulting party.
30. Winnemucca Indian Colony of Nevada	Consultation Letter 5-15-08	Discussion with Linda Ayers	Tribe had no comments on the Project at this time. With this response, the Winnemucca Indian Tribe of Nevada has expressed no interest in further participation at this time in the Section 106 review of the Project. The tribe is free to re-join the consultation at any time by notifying FERC, Ruby or EPG of their desire to do so.
31. Yomba-Shoshone Tribe of the Yomba Reservation, Nevada	Consultation Letter 5-15-08	Discussion with Linda Ayers	No response.

Consultations with identified interested Indian tribes will continue throughout the processes of Section 106 and other environmental review. Additional consultation with some or all of the tribes may be triggered by finds covered under the Unanticipated Discoveries Plan, which will be submitted as an addendum to the cultural resources survey reports. If at any time one or these identified Indian tribes makes Ruby aware of a historic property that is of traditional religious or cultural importance to that tribe, or any problem or concern regarding any element of the Section 106 review, Ruby will immediately notify FERC.

4.5 Unanticipated Discovery Plan

This plan outlines the steps that must be taken in the event that an unanticipated discovery of previously unknown cultural resources occurs during construction of the Project or operation of the pipeline. Common cultural resources that may be found include hand-worked chipped stone artifacts, ground stone artifacts, rock piles, and buried features such as pit houses, hearths, and storage pits. Historical items (artifacts that appear to be at least 50 years old), such as hole-in-top cans and hand-blown bottles, also are considered cultural resources. Human remains and associated funerary objects are a special class of cultural resource that are protected by state and federal laws and require specific action (see Section 4.5.2 below.)

4.5.1 Unanticipated Discovery Procedures

In the event of a discovery of previously unknown cultural resources, all work in the immediate vicinity of the find that could adversely affect it should cease, and the Ruby environmental inspector or environmental coordinator is to be notified of the finding. Detailed additional procedures specific to areas along the Project length for dealing with unanticipated discoveries will be included as an appendix to this resource report.

4.5.2 Procedures for Unanticipated Discovery of Human Remains and Associated Funerary Objects

Wyoming. Wyoming state law contains no provisions specifically pertaining to the discovery in that state of historic or prehistoric human remains or associated funerary objects. Accordingly, as a matter of its own voluntary procedures and as suggested by the Wyoming SHPO, upon discovery on privately owned or state-owned lands in Wyoming of apparently historic or prehistoric human remains previously unknown or unreported, either with or without associated funerary objects, Ruby would: (1) take reasonable measures to protect the discovery from further disturbance or vandalism pending final disposition; and (2) promptly notify the local county sheriff's office, the Wyoming SHPO and FERC. Ruby would then consult with those agencies and with the landowner for discoveries on private lands, to determine appropriate treatment and disposition of the remains and any associated objects.

If the discovery is located on federal or federally managed lands in Wyoming, Ruby would immediately notify FERC and the appropriate federal land manager, and treat the find as directed by those agencies in full compliance with the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA). Ruby would treat the discovery with utmost respect, take reasonable measures to secure it, and see that it is not further disturbed except as directed by FERC.

Utah. Upon discovery of ancient human remains in Utah on non-federal land that is not state land, Ruby would: (1) cease activity in the area of the discovery and take reasonable measures to protect the discovery from further disturbance or vandalism pending final disposition; (2) notify a local law enforcement agency; (3) notify the person who owns or controls the nonfederal land on which the discovery is located; and (4) notify FERC. In accordance with Utah Code § 9-8-309, if the local law enforcement agency believes that the discovery is of ancient human remains, that agency would notify the Antiquities Section of the Utah Division of History. Ruby may resume the suspended activity when permitted by the person who owns or controls the nonfederal land on which the discovery is located, in accordance with the provisions of Utah Code § 9-8-309(1)(d).

Upon discovery in Utah of Native American remains on state lands, Ruby would: (1) cease activity in the area of the discovery and take reasonable measures to protect it from further disturbance or vandalism pending final disposition; (2) notify in writing the appropriate state agency having primary management authority over the lands on which the discovery is located; (3) notify the Antiquities Section in accordance with Utah Code § 9-8-307; and (4) notify FERC. Ruby may resume the suspended activity upon certification by the appropriate state agency that the notification provided for herein was received, and when permitted by that agency after compliance with Utah Code § 76-9-704

If the discovery is located on federal or federally managed lands in Utah, Ruby would immediately notify FERC and the appropriate federal land manager, and treat the find as directed by those agencies in full compliance with the provisions of NAGPRA. Ruby would treat the discovery with utmost respect, take reasonable measures to secure it, and see that it is not further disturbed except as directed by FERC.

Nevada. Upon discovery on privately owned or state-owned lands in Nevada of a previously unknown or unreported cairn¹ or grave of a native Indian, including any apparently human remains and associated funerary objects, Ruby would: (1) take reasonable measures to protect the find from further disturbance or vandalism pending final disposition; and (2) promptly notify FERC and, in accordance with the provisions of Nevada Revised Statutes Title 33 § 383.170, the Nevada Office of Historic Preservation and Archeology. Ruby would then take all appropriate actions to cooperate with the Nevada authorities, the landowner and the appropriate Indian tribe as identified by the SHPO, in the appropriate treatment and disposition of the site and all associated artifacts and human remains as provided under Nevada law.

¹ A cairn is defined as stones or other material placed in a pile as a memorial or monument to the dead.

If the discovery is located on federal or federally managed lands in Nevada, Ruby would immediately notify FERC and the appropriate federal land manager, and treat the find as directed by those agencies in full compliance with the provisions of NAGPRA. Ruby would treat the discovery with utmost respect, take reasonable measures to secure it, and see that it is not further disturbed except as directed by FERC.

Oregon Upon discovery on privately owned or state-owned lands in Oregon of a previously unknown or unreported human remains suspected to be native Indian, Ruby would take reasonable measures to protect the find from further disturbance or vandalism pending final disposition, and in accordance with ORS Title 10 § 97.745, immediately notify the Oregon State Police, the Oregon SHPO and FERC. Ruby would also notify the Oregon Commission on Indian Services and consult with that agency, the SHPO, and FERC to determine and notify the appropriate Indian tribe. As directed by the SHPO and FERC, Ruby would comply with the above provision of Oregon law and would, at its own expense, re-inter the discovered and disturbed human remains or funerary objects under the supervision of the appropriate Indian tribe.

If the discovery is located on federal or federally managed lands in Oregon, Ruby would notify FERC and the appropriate land manager, and treat the discovery as directed by those agencies in full compliance with NAGPRA. Ruby would treat the discovery with utmost respect, take reasonable measures to secure it, and see that it is not further disturbed except as directed by FERC.
